

Oriflame product launch

Simultaneous interpretation equipment used at a larger event

Normally, translation facilities are used at meetings and conferences, but when Oriflame held a product launch event in Globen in Stockholm, they used our interpretation equipment.

The equipment package was comprehensive and it was used in Stockholm Globe, Anexet and Hovet VIP.

We delivered in total 30 interpreter booths and about 6500 receivers with headphones for the many participants.

Our engineers delivered, installed and operated the equipment during the event.
