

Press conference about a new cycling team

Hotel d'Angleterre was the news center from the cycling sport

Hotel d'Angleterre was the venue for a press conference where Bjarne Riis along with Saxo Bank's former director Lars Seier Christensen expressed their desire to become part of the cycling world with a team already in 2017.

Teletech supplied with technical equipment for use during the press conference. The equipment included two 55 "monitors on stands, Bosch panel microphones for the press conference's key players, microphones for questions from the audience and speakers on stands. A technician from Teletech operated the equipment during the press meeting.
