

Installation at Sølyst – The Royal Shooting Range

Complete sound system and projection solution

Sølyst needed an update of their equipment package in their Great Hall. Teletech was therefore asked to prepare a solution in which projector, screen, head-set and handheld microphone could easily be used in their daily conference activities.

The solution should take into account that the room is protected and therefore all changes must be specially approved.

A rear projection screen was, therefore, set up in front of orchestra pit and the projector was positioned in the ceiling in the orchestra room. In the orchestra room was there also installed a floor rack with amplifier / mixer, and microphones.

In the hall itself we installed four speakers in the corners, and computer connection on the back wall. A projector control panel from Neets was also installed.
